Dear Marty,

Thank you for participating in Global Cinematography Institute panel “ Future of Cinematography” on the 2nd of June and contributing to its success.

We believe the perspectives offered by all guest speakers you including, and the subsequent discussion amply highlighted the importance of thinking about further developments of cinematographer’s profession and its future successes worldwide .

Clearly there is work to be done in formulating successful strategies and executing them in partnership with many other “players”. Global Cinematography Institute counts on your continuous support and helping us to find more supporters for whom this issue is important and who may appreciate the pioneering role of Global Cinematography Institute not only in the education of new generations of cinematographers and ImageMakers™, but also in developing concepts and perspectives for the future of cinematography.

This is an important ongoing process and GCI will be happy to continue to facilitate this important forum in the future, hopefully with your participation.

Once again, may GCI thanks you for joining us and for a very successful roundtable.
